Presents Jackson and Stover In Piano Recital Here

Fine Arts Department of Harding College presented Mereda Jackson and Eugenia Stover in a duo piano recital last Tuesday evening in the college auditorium. Edwin Stover assisted with several violin selections. The first selection by the pianists was a light composition by Mark Strong, "Sir Roger de Coverly". Edwin Stover then rendered "Hejre Kati" by Jeno Hubay. Miss Jackson and Miss Stover returned to play two selections from Tschaiowsky's "Nutcracker Suite." These were "Terpak" (Russian Dance) and "Dance of the Orange Tarts." The next selections were played by Edwin Stover; "Serenade Espagnol" and "The Holy City". As an encore Mr. Stover played "The Swiss Lullaby". The final piano composition was "Gavotte and Musette" by Raff. Both pianists are pupils of Mrs. R. A. Ward.

Chandler Makes Senior Speech

Richard Chandler, college senior, discussed the purpose of education in a chapel speech last Tuesday.

"An educated person," he said, "is one who can meet life's problems successfully." This type of person has a pleasing personality and wears a smile. He has a guide — a plan for his work and uses it effectively. The educated person, he stated, is one who knows how to do the job at hand and complete it on time. The conduct of a person Chandler gave as another mark of education. The cultured person behaves himself wherever he is. He respects his parents, his associates and certainly has a great respect for God and His commandments.

Chandler has been a Hardingite for the past six years so he could well end his speech with "You have often heard it said, 'There's no place like home, but I say, (There's no place like Harding!'"

'Round Here

By Sally Ammerman

Annette Burford got up during Thursday's Bible class and sneaked out the door. Investigation disclosed that she thought it was Wednesday the day for church history class.

The next period Ann Richmond tried to meet her Wednesday eleven thirty class. In fact after the outing most every body did think it was Wednesday instead of Thursday.

That bright Miss Robbins posted an announcement for play practice that went like this, "Four Daughters" and all their relatives will meet in the auditorium at six o'clock.

Eleanor Goodpasture received a long distance call from that certain guy. She stepped from the phone booth into a bunch of girls clamoring, "What did he say? What did he say?"

Her face beaming, Eleanor replied, "He sure did."

One day at lunch time Butch Barker's shoe seemed to get away from her and wandered all over the dining hall. Butch looked but no one seemed to be able to explain where it had disappeared, so finally she had to leave with one shoe off and one shoe on. When Butch went to get her mail, there was her shoe in the box. It's still quite a mystery how one little shoe could walk over and jump into the mail box all by itself.

PETIT JEAN ANNOUNCEMENT

The 1944 Petit Jeans are expected to be here between May 15 and May 20, according to Elizabeth King, editor.

A day will then be definitely announced for the dedication of the book and the crowning of the Petit Jean queen.

John Sands Is Missing In Action

First Lt. John E. Sands, bombardier on a bomber in England, has been missing in action since a raid over Germany April 22, the War Department reported to his mother, Mrs. Irma Sands of El Dorado, Ark.

Mrs. Sands received a letter from Lt. Roy Lottuhas, who was with Lt. Sands in his last mission saying that Lt. Sands had been forced to bail out after his plane was hit, following an attack by German fighter planes. Lt. Lottuhas said that he believed that Lt. Sands landed safely.

Since enlisting in September 1942, Lt. Sands has received several Oak Leaf Clusters and the Air Medal. He is a graduate of El Dorado High School and Harding College. While here he was a member of the Equestrian club, International Relations club and Tagma social club. He was also on the debate team.

Lt. Sands helped to find the details of the death of Gorman Wilks who was recently killed in action and sent the information to Wilks' family.

Helsten Comments On Music Week

By Bob Helsten

National Music Week observance ended here last Sunday afternoon when Mrs. Oliver's piano pupils were presented in a recital. This marked the end of a very successful and well received music week. It was highlighted by musical numbers every morning in chapel, piano recitals by Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Oliver, a voice recital, a duo piano recital, the high school girls glee club and many other individual numbers.

Many comments were made about the numbers given in chapel in addition to the regular chapel program. The comments ranged from "I liked them fine" to "I wished we had them every day instead of the speeches." All comments were very favorable and showed appreciation for the whole program of events.

National Music Week was designated by the President of the United States who stated in his proclamation the necessity of music to bring about unity and solidarity among the United Nations. It was celebrated throughout the nation.

We Have All School Outing

By Bob Helsten

In spite of the threatening weather, in spite of the possibility of Roosevelt running for a fourth term, in spite of the feasibility of the new pay-as-you-go-income tax the students of Harding College (that's us) tossed all troubles (i. e. classes but not girls) to the wind and last Wednesday hit the road for Bee Rock.

Such a refined and cultured mess of kids you did never ever see. One or two of the students did get a little overbearing when they kept pushing teachers and students off the cliffs. We had to discourage them from pushing off the students. These fiendish rascals then ran down to the river and started throwing in rocks, trees, automobiles, history Ph.D's. These circumstances gave several aspiring fellows an idea on how to

Presents Blackburn In Senior Recital

The Fine Art Department of Harding College presented Joyce Blackburn in a senior speech recital, the Girls Glee club, and four voice students directed by Mrs. Florence Jewell, Thursday, May 11, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium.

"Night Run Of The 'Overland'" by Elnore Peake was read by Joyce. Dale Jorgenson sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Mallote. Tolbert Vaughn sang "On The Road To Mandalay" by O. Speaks. "Three For Jack", by Weatherly was sung by George Tipps, and Jeanne Chouteau sang "Alleluia" by Mozart. "The Lion and The Mouse", by C. Klein and A. Hornblow was read by Joyce and followed by the Girls Glee club singing "Gypsy Life", by Schumann, "In The Valley Below", an English Folk Tune, and "The Night Is Young", arranged by Tom Scott. Ann Richmond accompanied the group at the piano.

Music Week Celebrated Here

Programs given at Harding College during Music Week consisted of two full chapel periods and one number the other days.

Monday the program was given by students not taking music lessons at the college. Sally Ammerman played a violin solo "Romance", accompanied by Ann Richmond. Mary Bess Love played a piano solo "Romance". "Andantino" and "Anchors Aweigh" were played by Wyatt Sawyer on his accordion.

Tuesday Mrs. Ward had charge of the program. Christine Neal and Ann Richmond played "Liebestraum", by Liszt on two pianos.

Thursday, the High School Glee club presented the program. The numbers were directed by Christine Neal, Ann Richmond, and Margaret Sherrill. They were "Hark The Vesper Hymn", "The Coooco Cluck", "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes", and a Latin Song "Grant Us Peace". Pattie Mattox, a piano pupil of Mrs. Oliver, played "Little Aviator" by Robert Hellard.

MOTHER OF TEACHER PASSES AWAY HERE

Mrs. A. Blankenship, mother of Miss Dorothy Blankenship who is a member of the Harding music faculty, died Tues. May 7. She was buried May 9. The funeral was held in the Methodist church in Searcy, May 9, with the minister C. Norman Guice and J. N. Armstrong conducting the service.

Mrs. Blankenship was 71; her daughter, Dorothy, holds two degrees from Harding, one in music. Another daughter, Bernice, has attended Harding also, she teaches in the public schools of Jonesboro.

catch fish. One of the more cityfied took off his shoes and stockings and thrust his big toe and some of the lesser ones into the river. Well when the fish came up to the surface gasping for breath, they were hit over the head with a baseball bat.

There were several individuals who were evidently interested in buffeting the body, (esp. the other persons). It was interesting to see how many are their lunch standing up. A least there was no danger of a sit down strike.

Well that day is gone and we will never see it again, but its effect can still be seen and we shall remember it for some time, or as T. Coy put it:

The sunburn-ed noses
Are redder than roses.

L. C.s Give Mother Program

The L. C. club presented a Mother's Day program in chapel Friday, May 12. The program was in five episodes showing children at three progressive ages and the ever present aid and strength of their mother. The action on stage was in pantomime Mrs. F. M. Cathcart narrated.

Wanda Jean Patterson played the mother in the first four episodes, Lois Campbell played the mother grown old. Julianne and Kenny Rand and Mary Katherine Van Patten were the small children. Patty Mattox and Billy Sherrill were the second set of children and Fayette Coleman and T. Coy Porter the children grown.

Era Madge Ellis sang "Prayer Perfect" between the first two episodes; Christine Neal played "Liebestraum" between the fourth and fifth episodes. James Arnold played a sailor on stage in the fourth episode. Edwin Stover and Buddy Vaughn furnished musical background in parts of the program. Pete Adkins was in charge of lights and sounds. Lois Campbell and Fayette Coleman were in charge of the entire program.

DRAMATIC STUDENTS HAVE BREAKFAST

Members of the dramatic club attended a breakfast in the music studio Saturday morning, May 6. The menu consisted of hot cakes, sausage, coffee. Jeanne Chouteau, Evan Ulrey, Jerry Young and Claudia Pruett prepared the meal.

Those attending were Dot O'Neal, Weldon Casey, Coy Porter, C. W. Bradley, Arthur Peddle, Butch Barker, Buddy Vaughn, Dan Yake, Ruth and Lois Benson, Mildred Lanier, Therman Healy Jimmie Headrick, Billie Baird, Janet Rea and Miss Vivian Robbins.

KOINONIA CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Koinonia social club met Monday, May 8, and elected officers for next year. The new officers are John Cannon, president; Neal Watson, vice-president; Wesley Coburn, secretary-treasurer, and Dean Lawyer, sergeant-at-arms. The retiring officers are Dean Lawyer, president; John Cannon, vice-president; Neal Watson, secretary-treasurer, and Robert Totheroh, sergeant-at-arms. In the meeting, plans were made for a banquet to be held in Kirk's studio, May 20.

Seniors Reveal After-School Plans

By Marvin Howell

C. W. BRADLEY: "I plan to work in the Syracuse mission campaign again this summer and I hope to continue there in the work with George Gerganus. If possible, I want to attend the University of Syracuse and work toward my masters."

EDWARD SHEWMAKER: "This summer, I am planning to work in the Battle Creek mission campaign. I want to be an assistant in the Chemistry Department at the University of Nebraska this fall, but it all depends upon Uncle Sam."

ELIZABETH KING: "My plans are very indefinite now. I will be at home this summer but will enter some phase of Home Ec. next year."

EDWIN STOVER: "I will be in summer school for six weeks this summer and then I am to work in the Charleston, Mississippi mission work. I plan to enter George Pepperdine College next fall for work on a masters in Bible."

JOYCE BLACKBURN: "I hope to secure a position with Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company at Duncan, Okla. I will do defense work there."

COY JORTER: "I will be leading singing and conducting revival meeting this summer. I have seven meetings planned in fourteen weeks. I am returning to school next fall for one term and then I will go to California to work with my Dad in revival meetings."

MARGARET RIDLEY: "I'm going to work until the Navy comes home. I don't know exactly what type of work I will be in, however."

VONNA JEAN WOODS: "I'll probably teach next year but I don't know about this summer."

RICHARD CHANDLER: "I will be a counsellor at Camp Tahkodah this summer. I will probably get my masters next year but I don't know for sure where I will go."

ANNETTE BURFORD: "I will either do office work or teaching next year. I don't know; see, that's it."

KEITH SWIM: "I will be in summer school for awhile this summer. Next year, I plan to preach and teach."

MONA BELL CAMPBELL: "I plan to work in the Cincinnati campaign and teach in the vacation school there this summer. Next year I will teach school."

MARY CARROLL: "I hope to do chemical research work next year. I plan to work in Nashville, Tennessee this summer."

MARJORIE WATERS: "I think I will go to summer school but I may change my mind. I'll be here next year until December."

MARGARET JANE SHERRILL:

E. W. McMillan of Memphis, Tenn. will deliver the commencement address Thursday, June 1, and Batsell Baxter, Nashville, Tenn. will give the baccalaureate address Sunday night, May 28, senior class president C. W. Bradley announces.

McMillan is minister of the church of Christ at Union Avenue in Memphis. Before he began his work there he was for eight years minister of Central church of Christ in Nashville, Tennessee. He was also editor of the "Christian Leader" for two years. He has appeared on lectureship programs here in recent years.

Baxter has served as president of Abilene Christian College, 1924-32, David Lipscomb College, 1933-34, and George Pepperdine College, 1937-39. He was professor of Bible and social science here from 1940 until last November when he began his present work. He has been constantly associated with Christian education either as a student or instructor since 1908.

Candidates for degrees this year are Kermit Ary, Joyce Blackburn, Royce Blackburn, C. W. Bradley, Annette Burford, Clay Callaway, Lenore Campbell, Mary Carroll, Richard Chandler, Terrell Clay, Era Madge Ellis, Duran Hagler, Elizabeth King, Alma Larkins, Samuel Walter Larkins, Everett Maxwell, T. Coy Porter, Margaret Ridley, Margaret Jane Sherrill, Edward Shewmaker, Edwin Stover, Keith Swim, Marjorie Waters, Mary Nell Welborn, and Vonna Jean Wood.

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What will you remember longest about this year at Harding?

Elma Cluck: The Boys!

Jimmy Ganus: Seeing Dr. Frank get thrown in the river last Wednesday.

Claudia Pruett: Carrying Samonia home from the Nickel Arcade.

Harold Holland: The night five of us pledges had to sleep in one bed.

Eddie Sheumaker: Reba Faye, but don't print that!

Jeanne Chouteau: The night that Jimmie Headrick was knicked out in a pillow fight.

Miss Robbins: The day the ladder slipped from underneath Derrell Starling and he had to hang to the cyclorama (She means curtain) until we could get him down.

Delilah Trantum: Those 59 steps I climb to my room.

Dale Straughn: My first date! (With Mary Lee Dendy.)

Charles Shaffer: What do you think I'll remember most!

Jimmie Headrick: The night Butch put my mattress in the bath tub and scattered my bedclothes all down the hall.

Sally Ammerman: Runnin' 'round with the gang and gettin' into stuff and playin' jokes on each other.

Robert Webb: I don't . . . remember . . . anything.

Betty Jane Carter: Seeing Mary Bess trying to get out of her room after I tied her door and Margaret Shannon's to together.

George Tipps: Why! Pat, of course.

"Dad plans for me to go to school next year (at Peabody) but I plan to work!"

ROYCE BLACKBURN: "I will be working in the Reno campaign this summer. Next year I will work with a church in Nevada."

PADGIE ELLIS: "I plan to be in summer school this summer and to teach near Little Rock next year—probably high school home economics."

The Other 98 Per Cent

What are you dreaming about? Youth, spring, and the close of school nearing, cause all of us to dream. No doubt you are dreaming of the future. Perhaps you dream of your life's work. Maybe you are thinking of helping establish more schools like Harding, or maybe you have the inspiration to go to some difficult field to preach Christ. Perhaps you dream of serving others by becoming a great doctor, teacher, or homemaker. No doubt you plan to be the best in your field, or at least the best that you possibly can be.

If your dreams are worthwhile, some genius of the kind that Edison defined will be needed to realize them. That type of genius is essential to success in any field — — — the type which consists of two per cent inspiration and 98 per cent perspiration. The two per cent will come from your dreams, books, friends and many other sources.

But what about the other 98 er cent of the genius that you will need to realize your dreams. Where will it come from? It will come from you or it will not come at all so far as you are concerned. Dreams books and friends can not do your work for you. One of the first and hardest lessons to learn is that we can't be successful without working hard. It is not just another fogish idea, for in this modern age of easily controlled mechanical power there is still a very great need for hard work on the part of humans. We must work, and work hard if we would taste success. Many people (we see them every day) think that they can get their boat to go without rowing — yes, it will go, but downstream. Hook and crook methods are often employed to escape expending energy, which are in themselves failures.

After learning that work is indispensable to success, we must learn another important lesson about work, which is how to work. Many learn the first lesson but fail to learn how to work. In learning how to work we must discover the most efficient habits. We must learn to concentrate and to relax at a moment's notice. We need to know our shortcomings as well as our talents. Very important is our understanding how to get the most possible energy out of our minds and bodies, and how to do it over long periods of time. We must learn how to work with regularity, steadiness and persistence. Above all we must learn to thoroughly enjoy working.

May your dreams come true.

With This Editor

This issue of the Bison is next to the last one of this year. It is my last one. Being an editor or rather half of an editor has been a lot of fun, good experience as well as a lot of work. Monroe, the other half of the editor has been a swell fellow to work with and I am sure that next year he will make a good whole editor. He will have a big job as he already knows. From my experience last year I know George has had his ups and downs (with the emphasis on downs) and he has remained a good guy in spite of it. The rest of the staff has displayed some really worthwhile qualities. Some of them are cety dependable and without them all of us would be without a Bison. Dr. Frank has been a real help as faculty advisor. The administration, the entire student body, the Bison advertisers and Mr. Van Meter, (the printer) have been very cooperative so far as I am concerned. No school paper would I have rather served, than The Bison. It's been a real pleasure.

In My Opinion

Dear Editor:

It seems to me that all of the places that good sportsmanship should be displayed it is at a Christian college. Even here though once in a while one of us lets our temper get away from us and we say or do something that we will regret or at least should when we get to thinking about it. Not only is it unchristian but it makes the rest of the players feel like quitting if that is the way we take a little bad luck. After all let's remember that a game played around here is just for the fun we get out of playing and is not a life or death matter.

The quotation taken from a poem by Edmund Vance Cooke expresses my feeling about this better than I can put it.

"And it isn't the fact that you're hurt that counts. But only how did you take it?"

—Therman Healy.

Dear Editor:

One grace which could be more prevalent even at Harding College is the quality of just plain honesty. Many of us are downright dishonest. Not so much are we dishonest about the large things such as robbing the safe in the bursar's office, but about things which are apparently trivial we often fail to maintain a very high standard. To demonstrate this, leave a drinking glass or a cake of soap in the wash room for an hour or so. The mysterious disappearance of articles such as these and more valuable articles (razors, fountain pens, flashlights) has been observed more than once. If about small things such as this we cannot be honest how can we ever expect to be honest about matters of serious importance. Would I be too rude if I suggested that we all (even me) look among our belongings for articles which are not in reality ours, which we may have borrowed, and return them to their owners. If "possession is nine tenths of the law", perhaps honesty is greater than the law.

Spirit of Christ

By Dale Larsen

"MORE LOVE"

Because it is so easy to forget and neglect some of our greatest duties, as Christians, let us re-emphasize one of them here!

When Paul said that even faith and hope were in vain without love, he explained clearly the importance of the latter. Love is infinite and always furnishes a needy lesson for the best of us. We can never reach perfection in this respect, but it is, perhaps, the most important principle in Christianity. It was God's love for us that brought us our saviour. It was Christ's love for us and the Father that gave Himself up for us, and it is only through love that we can ever expect to obtain eternal life.

It is remarkable how great and all-inclusive love is. Perfect and true love will, of necessity, include all other Christian duties. If we love God and our fellow-man as we should, obedience and all other obligations will naturally follow. On the other hand, however, we need to be continually alert and to examine ourselves lest we find such things as ritualism, prejudice, formality, and superficiality dominating our life and teaching.

It is love that makes Christianity different and superior to all other systems in the world today. The reason for this is that "Love is of God". It penetrates deeper than any other force and is the most effective motto for success in any field.

The Bible is filled with this great spirit and we as Christians know its value and importance. We know it is a command of God and we know about its power and the blessings therein, but do we know from actual experience what it means to love?

This great thing called love should be a chief motivating force in every thing we do. We can not be Christians without it and if we find ourselves going about our duties in a cold, formalistic, manner we can easily know that our love for God and for souls is weakening. We must not forget when we do the work of the Lord that it must be done in love. The Word tells us that we are to even love our enemies.

We must love the heathen sinner to the extent that we make an effort to save him. We must love our brother, even the erring and the weak, to the extent that we will try to help in the true spirit of the Master, rather than to ruin persecute, and abuse. We need to love our God to the extent that we do all things in love.

May we study, pray, and practice, that we may improve that greatest of Christian virtues in our own personal life!

Dear Angus

After climbing the mountains and wearily plodding in the warm sunshine, it was a blistered and exhausted group of students who returned to the campus last Wednesday. Everyone was rather uneasy at first and cast worried eyes up toward the sky on Tuesday. It looked as though one might expect rain, regardless, of whether or not there would be a later opportunity. The all school outing could hardly have been held in the auditorium as successfully as was the May Fete.

Could someone tell Mary Lee Jones something, to keep light bugs out of her bed. Every night, soon after retiring, she bounces out of bed in a fright upon discovering that she is sharing her bed. Someone volunteers that it is just her own natural brightness, but she's far from satisfied with such a conclusion.

There was a certain unfortunate girl in Pattie Cobb who scrambled into bed the other night before she had taken her regular beauty treatment which involved a pound jar of cold cream. Her point was to complete this routine after she was reclining in bed. But woe! As she reached to a near window for her "beauty grease" she miscalculated her distance in the darkness and knocked the precious ointment with a crash to the floor. Oh! it was a horrible sight and such a task to scoop up in a dust pan!

"A recent traveler says, 'I had one of the finest berths a man ever slept on the floor next to'."

The worst thing about history is that every time it repeats itself the price goes up.

—Pillar (reprint).

The other day while in search for material to fill up the space in the Bison I call my column, Weldon Casey told this one — quote.

Once there were two old farmers walking along the street near the Empire State Building. One of them looked up and said, "Gee, wouldn't that hold a lot of hay!"

What if this should happen in our own kitchen—!

"In jam-packed Washington, a harried bus driver, tired of his job, pulled up to the curb, put on the emergency brake, got out and quit bus driving forever, leaving the passengers to their own devices.

"There was a sign on a car belonging to a just married war worker, which read, 'Newly Welded'."

Yours truly,
Chap.

Announce Engagements

THORNTON—LARSEN

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thornton of Bay City, Mich. announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Raylene to Dale Russell Larsen, son of Mrs. Nora L. Larsen, Albion, Neb.

Raylene received her B. S. degree in home economics from Harding with the class of 1943 and is now employed in Bay City. She was in the mixed chorus, speech choir, "M" club and Dorcus club and Mu Eta Adelpian social club.

Dale is completing his junior year here this spring with majors in Bible and English. He plans to continue in school next year. He is in the "K" club, Lambda Sigma social club, his written "Spirit of Christ" column in the Bison for two years and has served as president of the Lambda Sigma's this year.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized in September and the couple plan to return to Searcy to make their home for he ensuing year.

CHAPMAN—ARY

Mr. and Mrs. Adair P. Chapman, Sr. of Moultrie, Ga. announce the engagement of their daughter, Mildred to Mr. Kermit Roosevelt Ary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Ary, Linden, Tenn. The wedding vows are to be said sometime before school is out on the campus.

Mildred is finishing her sophomore year in college. She is a member of the GATA, Equestrian, and Flagala clubs, having served as president of the GATA's during the winter term. She is a columnist for the Bison. Her major is Journalism and she plans to continue in school.

Kermit left school at the end of the winter term to take the position of physical education instructor in Webb Private School for Boys, Bell Buckle, Tenn. We will receive a B. A. degree in physical education from Harding in June. He took his first two years of college work at David Lipscomb College. While at Harding Kermit was a member of the Tagma, Equestrian and Tennessee clubs, having served as president of the Tagma's one term of this year. He was one of the five to receive sports jackets last year and will also receive one this year.

WELBORN — NELSON

Dr. and Mrs. L. L. Welborn of Senatobia, Miss. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Nell to Aviation Student Thomas George Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Nelson of Iowa City, Iowa.

Miss Welborn attended Northwest Mississippi Junior College at Senatobia and Harding College. She graduated from here in the winter quarter. She was a member of the GATA social club, Dramatic Club, and the Eta Omega Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, honorary speech society.

Several parties will be given for Miss Welborn.

Before entering the service, Mr. Nelson was with a Chicago newspaper. He attended the University of Iowa. He is stationed at Chickasha, Okla. The wedding will be in early June.

W. H. C.s Have Garden Party

The W. H. C.s. celebrated the coming of spring by a garden party in the Sears' yard Friday night. Dean and Mrs. Sears, Mr. and Mrs. Mattox, Virginia Watson and James McCorkle were guests of honor.

The high light of the evening was "Little Lady, Make Believe" sung by Betty Jane Carter and acted by little Linda Lou Neal. The wishing well, a musical wedding, and a doll house completed the entertainment. A quartette composed of Coy Porter, Jerry Young, Buddy Vaughn and Barguerite Barker, sank "Wishing" while the couples came by the well and made their wishes.

Those present were Geneva Clem, James Willett; Polly Box, Kenneth Calli cutt; Myrtle Marlowe, Lloyd Wheeler; Jerry Young, Coy Porter; Rosemary Pledger, Bill Harris; Frances Watson, Virgil Lawyer; Harriet Lawrence, Dan Yake; Shirley Vaughan, C. W. Bradley; Marguerite Barker, Buddy Vaughan; Betty Jane Carter, Jesse Van Hoosier; Sara Stubblefield, Loyd Collier; Margaret Shannon, Clovis Crawford; Betty May, James Ganus; Doris Johnson, Sammy Swim; Eva Floyd, Ray Miller; Betty Simpson, Weldon Casey; Alice Covey, LoVern Houtz.

Girls from the M. E. A. and Alpha Theta clubs served chicken salad, cheese sandwiches, cake and punch.

CURTIS SHOWERED

Miss Bernice Curtiss was honored with a bridal shower Sunday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 at the home of Mrs. C. L. Bradley. The Alpha Theta club sponsored the shower and served to the guests punch, cookies, sandwiches, and mints.

Miss Curtis has been on the Harding Training School faculty for the past year. She graduated from Harding in 1943 with a B. A. degree in English. While in school she was a member of the Alpha Theta club, "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" and the Alpha Honor Society.

Her marriage to Thomas Weaver, teacher in the Bible School at Montgomery, Ala., is to take place in early June. Thomas also graduated from Harding in 1941 with a B. A. degree in English. He was a member of the Pix club.

GATAs Give Bridal Shower

Three summer brides from the GATA club were honored at a formal party Friday evening at the home of Mrs. John Lee Dykes. The party was disguised as a birthday party for her two year old daughter, Latina.

The room was decorated with red roses and candles. A wedding was mimicked for the benefit of the brides-to-be. Janet Rea was candle lighter, Dorothy O'Neal sang "At Dawning". The bride was Betty Maple, who took Joyce Blackburn as her husband, with Sally Ammerman performing the ceremony. Norma Lee Dykes was the ring bearer.

Dot Johns, Doris Pogue, and Mildred Chapman were presented girls by the club and a wedding cake with punch was served by Mrs. Dykes.

Those attending were members of the GATA club and two former club members, Mrs. Lewis Tandy, the former Anna B. Higgins, and Marguerite O'Banion.

HAVE OUTING

The L. C. Club accompanied by their sponsor, Mrs. Mack Greenway, spent Friday night in a cabin near Little Red River. The girls walked out to the river and spent the time until dark on the river in boats. Supper was served in picnic style around a bonfire.

Some girls feigned sleep between the hours of 2 and 4 a. m. after much scaring, screaming, singing and cracker crumbs and ice in beds. Breakfast of flapjacks, sausage, eggs and chocolate milk was served before the group returned to the campus about 8:00 Saturday morning.

HAVE FISHING PARTY

The Lambda Sigma club members had a stag fishing party Friday night at Barber's Lake. For breakfast they had a 39 pound fish, coffee and bread. They caught two small perch. Those who attended are Ed Sheemaker, Monroe Hawley, Dale Jorgenson, Dale Larsen, Dale Straughan, John Summitt, Sidney Roper, George Tipps, Robert Webb, Lloyd Collier, LaVern Houtz, Marvin Howell, Douglass Gungelman, Joe Wooten, Dr. Summitt sponsored the group and Lex Roberts, F. W. Mattox, and Dr. Joe Pryor were guests.

WHO'S WHO In Harding College

By DOROTHY DAVIDSON

NAME: Weldon Casey.
NICKNAME: Waldo.
DESCRIPTION: 5 ft. 9 in. tall, blond, blue eyes.

LIKES: to eat chili, to read biographies, and historical novels, to wear brown, to hear Beethoven, to play tennis and to swim, to write poems and short stories, for people to be themselves and stand by their convictions.

DISLIKES: affectation, gossip and to wear blue.

Weldon is a native of Mississippi, moving to Charleston when only 4 years old and living there ever since. He has always worked hard at whatever he entered. Even during grammar school he started out "winning" things. In the 5th grade he won an essay contest, in the 7th he won the child's division of declamation in the state contest and in the 8th grade he won a week's trip to the Dallas Centennial for getting the most subscriptions to a Memphis paper, and was valedictorian of his class.

When he entered high school he kept up his record by winning superior rating for a trombone solo in the state contest and first place in the national contest at Little Rock. During the four years of high school he won first place in the North Central Mississippi District in Algebra, Ancient History, American History and Typing, entering the semi-national typing contest in Memphis. He was editor of his high school paper, had the lead in the senior play and was valedictorian of his graduating class.

Weldon has always been versatile, spending his spare time constructively. He is a good swimmer, especially back and breast strokes, has his eagle and silver palm in scout work and was woodwork director of a boy scout camp for two summers.

He entered Harding in the fall of '41 and plans to finish by the end of the summer term of this year. He is majoring in English and minoring in Bible, having preached for about 3 years, now regularly twice a month.

Since entering Harding he has been active in speech work, winning the oratorical and poetry contest in his freshman year, Woodson-Harding dictation contest and state oratorical contest last year, and the Bison oratorical contest again this year. He has written for the Bison and was editor of the freshman edition his first year. During all three years he has been active in chorus, glee club, dramatics and has taken piano two years. He has been in the "Johnny Jones" broadcast since it started and is now Johnny Jones. He was recently made a member of the Alpha Honor Society.

During this year Weldon gave a talk Easter morning at the Methodist Church and the address at graduation at Panguitch High School.

Miss Score could probably give us some "inside dope" as Weldon has been working in the library since last summer. His hobby is writing and he has had several poems published.

Weldon plans to go to the University of Missouri this fall where he has a scholarship to do graduate work in English. From there he hopes and plans to go on and get his Ph.D.

GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT: Winning National Short Story Contest sponsored by "Open Road for Boys" when he was 15 years old.

AMBITION: To teach in a Christian school or perhaps start another one.

With his initiative and ability, all we need to say is luck to him.

From Major General Donovan to the women of Harding College

The Army is calling upon you today, as it already has called upon your brothers, your fathers, and your sweethearts.

We urgently need the contribution you can make by serving with them.

In all America, there is probably no group of women more deeply concerned in this war than you are. You know how much is at stake. You have studied the origins of the war in your classrooms. You follow its daily progress in your newspapers. You know how much personal sacrifice is needed to assure victory.

Your eager minds and skillful hands can do much, if given now, to help speed our soldiers' victorious return. I am confident you will not hesitate. It is now that the Army needs you.

Looking 'em Over

By Billy Bob Smith

The softball season rolled merrily on this week with some of the best games of the entire spring. The Souix suddenly came to life with an impressive victory over the heavily favored Hurons. This ended the Huron's hopes of overtaking the leading Chickasaws and winning the pennant.

The Chickasaws in the meantime defeated the Cherokees and settled the pennant question once and for all by eliminating all other teams from the race. All that is now left in the race for second place is the Hurons, led by Stover and the Cherokees, led by Dean Lawyer equally likely to win.

The time is now near for all-star selections to be made and it looks as though the champion Chickasaws might dominate the "dream team". Their catcher, John Cannon, seems certain to land a berth and their pitchers, Joe Cannon and Charles Shaffer, both have outstanding records on the mound. The first base spot will almost certainly go to Joe Wooten, the Souix defensive star. The second base spot will probably be filled by Bill Hatcher who filled it last fall. Short will almost certainly be filled by Dr. Frank Rhodes, Jr., also a Souix. Third base will probably be Arnold Shaver who is possibly the flashiest infielder in the league.

The outfield could well be wholly a Chickasaw affair with Blackburn, Tothoroh and Ganus filling the spots but there is also D. Starling and Jesse Van Hoosier to be considered. Short field will almost certainly go to Ralph Starling or Wyatt Sawyer.

The final highlight of the sports season will be the alumni-student softball game to be played during graduation week.

at second and Sammie Swim at first made it almost impossible for a ball hit to the infield to do any good. Both teams boasted great outfields and Dean Lawyer and Joe Cannon pitched good ball for their respective teams.

The game looked at first like a walk-over for the Chicks but they were over-confident almost to the point of disaster.

SOUIX — HURONS 15-11

The lowly Souix finally came to life with a surprising 15 to 11 win over Edwin Stover and his Hurons.

The game was featured by heavy hitting and had its share of thrills although the fielding was in some instances sloppy. Both pitchers, Stover and Nicholis were pitching good ball and allowed few walks.

PERSONALS

Those who went home over the weekend are the following: Estelle Ruby to Memphis, Geraleen Roth and Ruth Summitt to Judsonia, Irene Walker to Calico Rock, Vonna Jean Woods to Piggott, Marion Songer to Lake City, Pauline and Estelle Jackson to Newport, Frances Fry to Lake City, Willene Hul-ett to Evening Shade and Meta Dean Smith to McHue.

Sgt. James McCorkle, a former student visited on the campus with friends last week. "Corkie" is stationed in Camp Shelby, Miss.

Virginia Watson visited her brother and other friends on the campus last week.

Donald Cluck, Mary Helen Scurlock, and Doris Cluck Swang visited Elma Cluck over the weekend.

Miss Marguerite O'Banion of Jones-boro visited her sister, Maxine and other friends on the campus last week.

—SENIORS

NEAL WATSON: "I will attend summer school this summer but my plans for this fall are not definite. I may teach and preach or I may do some graduate work."

LOIS CAMPBELL: "I plan to do some type of work on the campus this summer and I hope to teach in high school next year."

CLAY CALLOWAY: "I am rather undecided about this summer. I may accept a position in Biggers High School next fall."

LENORE CAMPBELL: "I expect to teach Bible in the daily Bible school in Cincinnati this summer. I will probably teach school next year."

WELDON CASEY: "I will graduate after the summer term here. Afterwards, I am to do graduate work at the University of Missouri."

MR. AND MRS. LARKINS: "We are going to work in Valparaso, Indiana this summer helping to start the church in that section. We will remain next year if the work justifies it."

CHICKASAWS— CHEROKEES, 10-6

The Chickasaw team, led by John Cannon and Joe Cannon, were put to a severe test Friday before they finally defeated the Cherokees, 10-6. This was the shortest and best played game of the season, lasting only one hour and providing more thrills than any other single contest.

The Cherokees were especially good at bat but the Chicks sparkling infield composed of Arnold Shaver at third, Dennis Hulen at short, Charles Shaffer
